CATEGORY

Tables

MADE IN

China

MATERIAL

Tabletop made of travertine, table base made of travertine slabs with artificial stone core.

The surface of the table is polished and untreated; please note that any treatment might change the color of the stone.

CARE

Travertine is a natural stone material, which means that every slab varies in terms of vein pattern and color. Travertine has an open surface, which means that if water is left on the surface for a period, it can leave marks. Therefore, we recommend using coasters for items that can leave marks and stains.

Extended exposure to the outdoors can lead to color changes and staining. During the winter season, we advise covering the tables with a waterproof cover or storing them indoors."

Rich in architectural references, the Soho collection reminisces architectural building facades to create a vertical and slim table design. The fluted surface of natural stone adds tactility, while shadows play upon the sense of depth and character of the stone's surface throughout the day.

Soho is made from travertine with a beautiful natural surface of small holes and imperfections. Made from travertine plates, the table is still lightweight and easy to move around.
